

Dentsply Sirona rings the Nasdaq Closing Bell in honor of significant product launch

Dentsply Sirona celebrated more than a century of innovation and its commitment to improving oral health and continence care globally by ringing the Nasdaq closing bell. Opening a new era of digital patient care, Dentsply Sirona continued its history of innovation by launching the first cloud-native intraoral scanning solution, Primescan 2.

Charlotte/New York City, September 10, 2024. Dentsply Sirona (Nasdaq: XRAY), the world's largest manufacturer of professional dental products and technologies and a leading provider of continence care solutions, rang the closing bell at the Nasdaq MarketSite in Times Square, New York yesterday, in recognition of over one hundred years of innovation, and the company's commitment to improving patient care globally and driving the digitization of the dental industry.

"We are excited to ring the bell to commemorate our Nasdaq listing and our commitment to innovation, digitization and global health," said Simon Campion, President and Chief Executive Officer.

The Company has a rich history of being at the forefront of innovation to improve and advance dentistry and continence care. Some of the landmark innovations include introducing the first dental X-ray unit, inventing in-office dental restorations, pioneering ultrasonic scaling, and developing the first electrical dental drill as well as Wellspect's product brands LoFric® and Navina™ for over 40 years. Adding to the company's landmark innovations, last week Dentsply Sirona launched Primescan 2, representing the next milestone in the history of dental innovation.

"We are proud to continue our history of innovation with Primescan 2. This first cloud-native intraoral scanner opens a new era of digital patient care, allowing scanning directly to the cloud on any internet-connected device¹. Primescan 2 represents the future of dentistry and provides new momentum for dental practices navigating today's rapidly evolving landscape. We are committed to continuing to bring innovation to the industry that advances digital dentistry for the benefit of our customers and all our stakeholders," concluded Campion.
